The Process

The University had counselling centres and used to accept admission forms for entrance examinations at their centres located at different cities across India. They wanted to do it online and make the selection criteria simpler and easier. The process of centre booking, opening the slots for interview and individual counselling of selected students was a time taking process.

We at Wheebox, handled the process from creating Online Centres for them with availability of seats for Online Aptitude plus Domain test (for all the courses in the University) to booking of slots for candidates online along with candidates taking the test and results being pushed to the client.
